

DAGENHAM

GREEN Z

A NEW LANDMARK FOR DAGENHAM

Welcome to Dagenham Green, an inspiring new vision for the future of this vibrant and diverse East London community. Imagine a place with everything you need: gardens, a park and boardwalk, shops, a school, a social hub and cafés. Dagenham Green will offer just that – a whole neighbourhood for you to enjoy.

Set to provide a new community of over 3,500 new homes, Dagenham Green will also feature over 10 acres of new public open space. The first exciting phase comprises 1, 2 and 3 bedroom apartments. All have their own outdoor areas and are arranged within three striking buildings that have been individually designed to maximise light and space. Flexible, sustainable and with a cool, contemporary finish, these homes are ready for you to start life's big adventures.

URBAN LIVING NATURALLY

With rich natural landscaping and planting, this new destination will be a green oasis that is set to transform life in Dagenham. The regeneration of the area will create a wonderful place to live and fantastic opportunities for work, play and relaxation.

A BOLD VISION FOR THE FUTURE

Part of an ambitious masterplan to regenerate the 45-acre site that was once home to the Ford Motor Company's Stamping and Tooling Operations, this first phase of Dagenham Green sets the benchmark for what will follow.

The masterplan is not just about homes – there are plans for a brand new secondary school, further shops and amenities to serve local residents.

In addition, people who live here will also benefit from a convenient concierge service.

Dagenham Green will be an exciting new neighbourhood people will be proud to call their own, building on the heritage of this enterprising area.

VILLAGE COMMUNITY, CITY CONVENIENCE

With a range of amenities and green spaces on your doorstep, Dagenham Green has been designed to be like a London 'village', home to a Sainsbury's supermarket, café and local shops, with everything you need for day-to-day living within easy reach.

Beautiful parkland all around lets you embrace the great outdoors. Cafés and restaurants† just moments from home mean more spontaneous nights out or catch-ups with friends, while the Market Square will provide a natural place for the community to gather.

Getting around this new neighbourhood will be a breeze, with a network of footpaths and cycle ways, opening up the area and making it more accessible, as well as supporting a more active lifestyle.

There will also be cycle storage, a car club and electric vehicle charging points, while residents can take advantage of a convenient concierge service.*

†Proposed café and restaurants. *Service subject to change.

RELAX REVIVE RE-ENERGISE

With parks, wetlands and leafy green spaces all around, you'll always be moments from nature when you live at Dagenham Green.

The five-acre Central Park will be beautifully landscaped with groves of trees, wildflower meadows, play areas and landscaped terraces, where you can exercise, play, socialise or simply relax in the great outdoors.

To the south of this incredible green space, next to Market Square, The Boardwalk will be a tranquil space of wetlands, a pond and reedbeds, inspired by how the area looked centuries ago. Changing throughout the seasons, it will be a wonderful backdrop to life here.

Across Dagenham Green, the planted areas, green gardens and trees will help to increase biodiversity, attracting all kinds of colourful birds, bees, insects and more. There are even plans in place for a potential wildlife corridor to the south of the development, providing a safe passage for wildlife between Goresbrook Park and Beam Parklands.

DAGENHAM GREEN LD

A CELEBRATED PAST

Running throughout Dagenham Green, on show for all who walk or cycle through it, artworks, play areas and planting act as permanent reminders of the site's history.

There are references to the marshy riverbank it was when the area was known as Daecca's Farm, which eventually evolved into the name Dagenham. The creation of Dagenham Breach is commemorated: Captain John Perry's spectacular feat of early civil engineering that solved the age-old problem of flooding along the north side of the River Thames. You'll also notice industrial elements, crediting the Victorian visionaries Sir John Rennie and Samuel Williams, who built jetties and docks and brought railways to the area.

No celebration of Dagenham's past would be complete without mention of the Ford Motor Company, which selected the riverside location for the 500-acre motor plant, transferring all work in 1931. It was Europe's largest car plant, it defined Dagenham throughout the 20th century as a centre for industry and manufacturing.

The site on which Dagenham Green now stands has its own remarkable heritage: once home to the Ford Stamping and Tooling Plant, it was the setting for the Ford sewing machinists' strikes, when a group of women protested against the low-skilled grading of their work. Leading to the formation of the Equal Pay Act of 1970, it was a milestone in the United Kingdom's social history.

1719 DAGENHAM BREACH

In 1707 the River Thames broke through sea defences and flooded much of Dagenham Marshes. Repairs were finally completed in 1719, leaving behind a 55-acre lake known as Dagenham Breach.

1887 DAGENHAM DOCK

Developed on marshland, Dagenham Dock played an instrumental role in the town's industrialisation and was of strategic importance during the First and Second World Wars.

1931 FORD MOTOR COMPANY

Dagenham was the home of the 500-acre Ford Dagenham motor car plant, once the largest in Europe and employing over 40,000 people.

1948-1971 WINDRUSH GENERATION

Dagenham became home to some of the Caribbean migrants who moved to Britain after the Second World War, with many of them finding employment at the Ford Motor Company.

1968-1984 FORD SEWING MACHINISTS

A stitch that sparked change. Women workers at Ford took a stand - their fight against inequality led to the formation of the Equal Pay Act of 1970.

DAGENHAM TODAY

This East London town is now home to a proud and diverse community that reflects the industrious and pioneering spirit of its heritage.

HOP ON AND HEAD OUT

Enjoy connected living with a train station on your doorstep and the nearest Tube station just over a mile away. Trains from Dagenham Dock reach central London in 21 minutes, while the District line runs through Dagenham Heathway and on to Dagenham East. Both rail and Tube converge in Barking, where there are even more options, and West Ham, which is a travel hub connecting five different transport lines.

Buses call at nearby stops from 6am through to 1am, with regular services to Dagenham town centre every 20 minutes. Cycle paths traverse Dagenham Green and secure cycle storage is provided, with National Cycle Network Route 13 just outside the development, linking central London with East Anglia.

By road, the A13 is less than a mile away, joining the M25 within 15 minutes and bringing Southend-on-Sea and the Essex coast within an hour's drive.

A FEAST FOR THE SENSES

Whether it's a fragrant dish from a favourite restaurant, or designer fashion in the West End, everyone has their passions. Living at Dagenham Green means you get to indulge them all.

DAGENHAM GREEN

Westfield, Stratford.

Shoppers have a world of temptation around them: Lakeside Shopping Centre, just 16 minutes away by car, and the popular Bluewater, 24 minutes away, both combine retail therapy with family entertainment and eating out. Westfield Stratford City, home to more than 300 retailers, is a short walk from Stratford Station, just 22 minutes by train from Dagenham Dock. A little further and you're in central London, the ultimate destination for shopping, entertainment and fine dining.

There are supermarkets and local shopping centres for your day-to-day needs in Dagenham, including Merrielands Retail Park and the nearby ASDA Superstore – and of course, the Sainsbury's supermarket, shops and services right on your doorstep at Dagenham Green.

Try Italian from Ventidue, Turkish from Lara Grill or Indian from Curry Mahal Tandoori, to name but a few: if exploring global cuisines is your thing, you'll be in your element here in East London, with a wide range of restaurants in the area serving flavours from around the world.

LOVE EVERY MOMENT

As well as the five-acre Central Park on the doorstep at Dagenham Green, lovers of the great outdoors can enjoy the open spaces of Goresbrook Park and Old Dagenham Park, ideal for walking and running. Beam Valley Country Park and Ingrebourne Hill Country Park are larger, good for cycling and horse-riding. Rainham Marshes Nature Reserve is another natural favourite, while the National Trust Rainham Hall is well worth paying a visit. For some sea air, you can reach the coast in under an hour from Dagenham.

Golfers will be in their element with a choice of courses to play, and football fans need look no further than the Daggers – Dagenham & Redbridge FC – for a passionate team to cheer on. For more hands-on leisure activities, try the local bowling alley, or feel the burn at one of the many gyms within walking distance.

For culture, there are icons aplenty in the Valence House Museum and at the Museum of London Docklands, and with cinemas, local festivals, gigs, workshops and theatre, there's always something to enjoy.

OPENING MINDS

While a new secondary school is planned for Dagenham Green in the future, there are already plenty of highly rated nurseries, primary and secondary schools and colleges all just a short distance from home. Many are rated either Good or Outstanding by OFSTED, with caring staff, excellent facilities and stimulating extracurricular activities.

For older students, the combination of academic excellence, a rich artistic and cultural heritage and the fact that it is at the centre of global business means that London is ideally suited to offer an inspiring higher education experience. With over 40 universities and colleges to choose from, you're in one of the best places in the world to learn.

TAKE IN THE WHOLE PICTURE

Dagenham Green has been designed as a welcoming community where everyone can flourish, with visionary architecture, carefully considered public spaces and amenities, and homes that connect with greenery at every opportunity. It will see 45 acres transformed into a new East London destination, bringing nature and exciting modern design to this former industrial site.

Siteplan is indicative only and subject to planning approval.

IN MORE DETAIL

Located next to Central Park and The Boardwalk, the first phase of Dagenham Green enjoys nature on the doorstep, with uplifting views over the leafy landscapes from many of the homes. Even the simple act of meeting neighbours for a drink has been elevated out of the ordinary, with the podium-level courtyard gardens offering resident-only vantage points.

DISCOVER YOUR NATURAL HABITAT

Whichever apartment size or style you choose, step inside and you will immediately feel welcome and at ease.

Every aspect of these homes maximises quality and convenience, from the large windows flooding the interiors with light to the ample storage provided. Kitchens are finished to a high specification and are equipped with appliances by leading brands, ensuring that both cooking for the family and entertaining friends is enjoyable.

Then there are the thoughtful details that make all the difference: the soft close doors on the cabinets, the underfloor heating throughout. And of course, your own private balcony or terrace is an uplifting connection with the outdoors, ideal for alfresco life whenever you want it. These are homes that you can take pride in, and where you can put down roots.

YOUR ULTIMATE SANCTUARY

Spacious, practical, comfortable: bedrooms are your own retreat where you can recharge after a busy day.

Whether your home has one, two or three bedrooms, each has been individually planned, with thoughtful layouts to create harmonious settings for sleeping – and dreaming – in.

Similarly, bathrooms have been carefully considered to offer a luxurious, spa-like experience, with sleek fixtures and fittings and tactile surfaces encouraging you to unwind. Take as much time as you want...

SUSTAINABILITY FROM THE GROUND UP

Dagenham Green has been designed for the future – and that means more sustainable living.

Homes incorporate passive design measures such as effective insulation, maximising natural light and improved air-tightness, helping to reduce your energy use. The whole neighbourhood will be supplied with heat via a site-wide district heating network from a centralised energy centre generated by air source heat pumps, with individual Heat Interface Units supplying each home and further improving energy efficiency.

In addition, Modern Methods of Construction have been used to reduce emissions, including off-site construction. This has environmental benefits such as less waste, cleaner processes, reduced carbon footprint and increased recycling, while working in a controlled environment enables greater precision and improved quality.

Outside, the diverse tapestry of thoughtful planting schemes feature native species to increase biodiversity, boosting bird, bat and insect life. A wildlife corridor has also been planned along the southern boundary to enhance urban greening.
